Sensational Double Tragedy in Illinois-An Insurance Agent's Terrible Double Murder.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 20 .- Harry O. Williams, agent for the Franklin Life Insurance Company to-day abducted his twoyear-old son Glen from its mother at Auburn, Ill., and then when pursued by officers, got out of his buggy and placed the child in the road and blew out its brains, and then blew out his own. News was received to-night in this city, where Williams Mr. Baldwin gave an interesting account | Clara N. Williams was well known as a school teacher of Auburn township for ten | where Nansen and Johannsen spent their years and three years ago married Annie, daughter of J. A. Harney, a wealthy retired merchant of Auburn. This spring they removed to Springfield, but Williams became dissolute and his wife was taken home by her father. This afternoon Williams appeared at the Harney residence and asked his wife to take the child and go with him. She refused and he threatened his wife's life. He then seized the child. Miss Lena Harney, his sister-in-law, caught the horses' reins and tried to prevent his leaving, but he struck her with the whip, and as she still persisted he drew a revolver and compelled her to let go the reins. He then drove away toward Loami. Officers were called and when Williams saw them approaching he shot the child and himself. Williams was short in his accounts with the insurance company and had frequently quarreled with his wife.

ANOTHER BLOCKADE.

Haitlens May Again Cause Uncle Sam to Interfere.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 .- A cablegram from United States Minister Powell at Portau-Prince advises the Department of State that the Haltien government has notified the diplomatic corps that the ports of Gonaives and St. Marc have been blockaded. The department has instructed the minister to report whether adequate force is employed to make the declared blockade effective. The ports named were at last accounts this notification to the diplomatic body is simply in execution of the plan announced some time ago to the naval commanders in Haltien waters. It is not known that the Haitien government has any ships which may be used to blockade the ports, so if it turns out that this is another paper blockade the notice will be disregarded by the State Department and the a ceaseless worker for the improve-right of entry for United States merchant ment of the position of the poorer shipping will be asserted.

Haitiens Fear Interference.

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti, Sept. 20 .- The provisional government of Haiti is taking energetic steps to end the civil war in this that this official activity is due to the reports which have reached here that under certain circumstances the United States might be compelled to intervene for the purpose of ending the strife. Government forces divided into three columns are now on their way to Gonaives, the headquarters of the Haitien revolutionists.

Over London.

CHRISTIANIA, Sept. 20 .- Captain Otto Sverdrup, who reached Stavanger yesterday from the arctic region on the steamer Fram, in an interview gave the following details of his expedition: "I spent the winter of 1898-99 in winter quarters at Ellesmereland, whence scientific expeditions were started with sledges. The summer of 1899 was unfavorable and the Fram was obliged to return and pass the winter at Ellensmereland. A great part of the surrounding region was mapped out. There was a serious fire on board the Fram in May, 1900. It was started by sparks from the funnel, and spread to the keyaks (arctic canoes), which were smeared with paraffine for their protection. The riggings and masts caught fire and the total destruction of the vessel was threatened, but we succeeded in mastering the flames. in August, 1900, we traversed Jones sound and Cardigan strait and took up winter quarters at 76:48 north and 89 west. The region was rich in reindeer and polar wolves, of which we brought back living specimens. The following winter was more than ordinarily cold and stormy, the average temperature being 45 degrees below zero. Sledge expeditions occupied the spring and summer of 1901, and the early part of 1902. On Aug. 6 the Fram succeeded in breaking away from the ice and arrived at Godhaven Aug. 18. We left Cape Fare-well, homeward bound, Aug. 28." Captain Sverdrup added that the members of the visited, but he said that many of their Evelyn B. Baldwin in London. LONDON, Sept. 20 .- Evelyn B. Baldwin, of the Baldwin-Zeiglar expeditions, arrived in London to-day on his way home. He had little to add to what has already been cabled regarding his experiences, but he gave extended details of the technical came upon Dr. Nansen's hut, the place historic winter. The hut was partly gnawed by foxes and bears. Dr. Nansen's record was intact. It was found in a brass cylinder and was dated May 19, 1896, and written in pencil on half a sheet of note paper. Mr. Baldwin has the Nansen record and left his own record in the place. While in the arctic regions Mr. Baldwin released three hundred balloons which were driven northward and may later furnish data regarding air and sea currents. Each balloon has attached to it an automatic buoy addressed to the "nearest

The America was caught in a violent ice field, her screw and rudder were twisted and her propeller frame was broken. The expedition had another exciting experience in a pack further south Two members of the expedition, unarmed and on a pony sledge, were set upon by huge white bears. The pony bolted and the men were defenseless. With great presence of mind they clambered on top of an iceberg and escaped on the other side to the ship. Mr. Baldwin described fights between dog teams and herds of walruses and in conclusion said: "The old idea of an open polar sea is baseless. We know that land extends as far as 82 degrees on the Franz Josef Land side and from there I believe the pole can be reached. I agree with Peary that the most practical way of reaching the pole is by sledding from that

VIEWS OF ISRAEL ZANGWILL.

What the Jewish Author Thinks of Secretary Hay's Appeal to Europe. LONDON, Sept. 20 .- Secretary Hay's note to the powers which signed the Berlin treaty of 1878 on the subject of Roumania's treatment of Jews has aroused widespread interest in the Jewish community of London. Israel Zangwill, the author, who is an authority among his co-religionists and among them, said: "Secretary Hay's note regarding the Roumanian violation of the treaty of Berlin is a noble historic document, setting a precedent in political righteousness. It is a worthy pendant to President Roosevelt's setting The Hague international arbitration court in motion. Both tend to the creation of a nonexistent branch of justice-international ethics-the absence of which makes our civilization a farce, since all evil is sanctioned, if only enough people commit it. America cannot be seriously injured by Jewish immigration, and its action was undoubtedly chivalrous. Yet, as the main refuge and hope of the homeless few, it has a technical case for interference, even though not represented at the Berlin con-

EXPLORATION act of aggression. More especially should this principle be pushed to its utmost limits when monstrous injustice is being perpetrated and an unconstitution of the contract of the when monstrous injustice is being perpetrated and an unoffending population is being done to death. If the European powers do not interfere to enforce the treaty of Berlin I do not see how they can escape the deduction that violation of treaties is only a casus belli when some commercial interest is to be exploited.'

AN AERONAUT'S JOURNEY.

Stanley Spencer's Flight Over London in His New Airship.

LONDON, Sept. 20 .- Stanley Spencer, the aeronaut, who yesterday traveled nearly thirty miles over London in an airship of his own invention, to-day furnished interesting details of his flight among the clouds. He said: "At one time I feared an explosion of the balloon, but the automatic valve prevented a catastrophe. The engine also threatened to ignite the gas of the balloon, but this danger I also overcame. I had the machine under perfect control, and could turn in any direction. The people in the London thoroughfares alighted the machine came down so lightly that a child might be under it without being hurt. The distance covered was much further than at first reserved. much further than at first reported, being fully thirty miles.
"I dropped bells as I went along. It shows what an army could do with an air-ship carrying bombs. My ship differs from Santos Dumont's in being propelled from the front, and it is thus drawn along. Its speed is seven and a half miles an hour. My present ship is a one-man affair, but I can make one to accommodate any reasonable number of persons."

CRUISER DES MOINES LAUNCHED AT FORE RIVER SHIPYARD.

Unusually Capable Ship of Medium Grade-Great Effective Power and a Large Steaming Radius.

QUINCY, Mass., Sept. 20.-The cruiser Des Moines was launched from the yards of the Fore River Ship and Engine Company a little after noon to-day. Hundreds of people saw the ship plunge into the water, and for some time after their cheers echoed along the river banks. Miss Elsie Macomber, of Des Moines, with Governor Cummins, of Iowa, and Mayor Brenton, of Des Moines, standing by her side, smashed the ropes which held the last keel block and started the ship down the ways.

The Des Moines is the largest vessel ever launched in the waters of Massachusetts bay, and is the first of the government ships under construction by the Fore River

Although the weather was cloudy and at times threatening, the day was practically a holiday, while the attendance of a large company of distinguished guests, including a delegation from Iowa, many government officers, national, State and city dignitaries and foreign naval attaches, made the occasion a notable one

The launching party and other guests left Boston on a special train. Soon after noon the party mounted the launching stage right under the massive bow of the ship. Owing to the illness of Governor Crane, of Massachusetts, he was represented by Lieutenant Governor John L. Bates and several members of the Governor's staff. The Des Moines represents what her designer, Admiral Hichborn, regarded as the most useful of the medium-sized type of warship. It was never intended that she should be a racer, nor yet that she should be a battleship in resisting qualities, but the Des Moines was planned to combine a fair rate of speed, a moderate but still formidable armament, good sea-going qualities and a coal endurance rather above the average. All these qualities have been got together in a vessel of 3,200 tons displacement, 308 feet 9 inches long. 44 feet beam and 15 feet 9 inches draft, with a speed of sixteen and one-half knots.

The Des Moines has a protective deck two inches thick and her sides are lined with cellulose to exclude water in case they are pierced by a shell. She has no other armor. She carries five ten-inch rapid-fire guns, eight six-pounders, two one-pounders and four Colt's automatic guns. The indicated horse power will aggregate 4,500. the engines being triple expansion. Six water tube boilers will supply the necessary steam. The coal supply, 700 tons, will give this ship a radius of action at ten knots of 7,000 knots without coaling; thus she could steam from San Francisco to Manija without stopping for coal. Her crew will consist of 263 men.

MRS. PULITZER'S SUPPOSED MUR

His Father, Who Is the Son of Brigham Young, Once Tried for Polygamy in Utah.

Chloral-Notes on "Blood Atonement" Found in Young's Room.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 .- The energies of the whole detective force of New York are now concentrated on the task of running down Hooper Young, the grandson of the great Mormon prophet, Brigham Young, who is believed to be the murderer of Mrs. Annie Pulitzer, whose body was found on Thursday morning in the Morris canal near Jersey City. In this quest the authorities have the co-operation of every city and town in the country, to all of which full descriptions of the fugitive have been telegraphed.

That the young man may have committed suicide was suggested by a note received by Captain Titus late to-day. The envelope contained a single sheet of rough brown paper, on which was written: 'Search in vain. Have killed myself. H. Young." The postmark showed that the letter had been mailed at the general postoffice in this city shortly before noon. The police are disposed to believe that Young

Another important link in the chain of evidence connecting Young with the murder was supplied when a dispatch was received from Chicago stating that the police had opened the trunk shipped by Young and had found in the dead woman's clothing a memorandum book containing the name of William Hooper Young and a pawn ticket showing that a pair of diamond earrings had been pledged at a pawnshop in Park row, this city, on Wednesday. shop and under the same name. The person who pledged them gave an address in Harlem which proved to be fictitious. Joe Pulitzer identified the earrings as those Captain Titus received to-night a dispatch from Superintendent O'Neill, of Chicago saying that he had shipped the trunk to New York, and that it contained in addition to the articles previously mentioned some articles of male attire and a dirk knife smeared with blood.

An autopsy was performed on the body of Mrs. Pulitzer, and it showed that her death was caused primarily by a knife wound in the abdomen and not by chloral. Several blows were struck on her head before death, but the skull was not fractured and there William Hooper Young, grandson of the great Mormon leader, Brigham Young, who is suspected of the killing. Among the books found in Young's room in the Fifthstreet flat was the cover of a small memo-randum on the front of which was stamped n gilded letters, "Practical reference." On the inside were a number of notes headed "Blood atonement," and followed by Biblical references, including a passage from the Book of Corinthians, reading: "To deliver such an one unto Satan for the destruction of the flesh that the spirit may be saved in the day of the Lord Jesus." It now develops that when Young's father sailed for France on July 1 two of the sons went back to Utah. Hooper did not make his home with his father, but roomed in the vicinity. Recently he called upon the superintendent of the building and demanded the keys, which were given to him. The apartment originally consisted of three suites. These were thrown into one for the use of the family, but upon their going abroad one of them was cut off and was turned over, rent free, to four missionaries who were proselyting in New York. They have been living there ever since and were asleep when the supposed murder was committed. Their names are Clarence Snow, Lawrence Taylor, J. L. Woods and John R. Porter. All are young men. Mr. Snow said: "When the elder Young went to Europe he left four of us here rent free. Soon afterwards Hooper demanded the keys. He lived in Suite 4, which was entirely shut off from us, and we saw little of him. Sometimes we heard him come in and sometimes we did not. come in that night, and we certainly heard no disturbance in his part of the house." In connection with the "blood atonement" note found in the apartment, Taylor insisted that it had nothing to do with the Mormon Church. Elder Taylor said that Utah John W. Young told them they might have the use of his apartments during their stay in this city. On July 1 Mr. Young and days later William Hooper Young came to the house and demanded to have the use father's consent, he was permitted to occupy a room. A letter which one of the elders received from John W. Young, written in Europe, confirmed the son's right to | tory. have the use of a room. Captain Titus, of the detective bureau, emphatically declared to-day that the motive for the murder was robbery. He says the diamond earrings $180, and evidently have been pawned. Captain Titus says: "This man Young had lived in St. Paul, Minneapolis and Dubuque, and letters from all of these places were found in his room. On Tuesday last he borrowed $6 from a man whom he had told he was in hard luck and did not have a Captain Titus then told of his visit cent."

to the apartments on West Fifth street. He said he found there three empty beer bottles. One of the bottles had a crystalized appearance, and he thought that the woman had first been drugged by some narcotic in the beer and afterward knocked in the head. The room showed no signs of a struggle, but blood was scattered every-Detectives have traced Young to Brooklyn, where he went on Thursday morning to bid a friend good-bye. Mr. Taylor said: "The enemies of the Mormon Church accuse its members of practicing the blood atonement. There is nothing in it, and this crime could not have been committed through any ideas of Mormonism that this young man may have possessed.
